Art Unit: 1731

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 1-9 and 12-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hermansson et al. (5,306,673) in view of Sugimura et al. (5,096,450) for the reasons as set forth in the previous office action.

4. Applicant's arguments filed 6/12/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In view of applicants' remarks, the rejection over Heide et al. (4,309,488) has been withdrawn.

With respect to the 103 rejection over Hermansson et al. in view of Sugimura et al. applicants argue:

Art Unit: 1731

Hermansson teach the use of HIP, but says nothing about the precise conditions of temperature in the HIP process. Applicants believe that at the time the Hermansson disclosure was formulated, nothing was known about the risk of decomposition. Applicants point out that the encasing in glass as cited by the Examiner does not mean that a pressure is applied to the capsule as required by the claims herein as amended. It is noted also that "applying of a pressure" in claim 1 as amended means a deliberate application of an external pressure, not to be confused with an increase of pressure in a closed capsule due to a rise in temperature.

This argument is not persuasive. It is submitted that applicants' characterization of the hot isostatic pressing process is inaccurate. In hot isostatic pressing, pressure is not increased in a closed capsule due to a rise in temperature. Rather, the glass capsule is heated and pressure is applied thereto to apply pressure to the material to be densified. See Ceramic Technology and Processing by King which is cited of interest. See particularly page 314.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Ceramic Technology and Processing by King is cited to elaborate on hot isostatic pressing as taught in the primary reference.

6. Claims 10 and 11 are allowed.

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO

Art Unit: 1731

MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
